EX-GANGSTER 'SOMEWHERE IN EAST,' CLAIM

Former Underworld Overlord to Get Final Release From U. S. on Wednesday.

AGENTS GUARDING HIM

Stays in Custody of Federal Officers With Brother, Says Chicago Newspaper.

CHICAGO — (INS) — Al Capone, one-time Chicago gang overlord, has already been released from federal prison at Terminal Island, Calif., but "is a sick and broken man," the Chicago Herald-American stated today in an exclusive story.

Capone in all probability may never return to Chicago again, the newspaper stated

For many months he will be confined to a hospital in the east, where he will recuperate from the ravages of an illness which showed itself while he was incarcerated at grim Alcatraz prison in San Francisco Bay, the story said.

'He will not return to his home on Palm Island, near Miami, Fla., as previously announced, at least until he has recovered," the story, based on information obtained at Washington, D. C., declared.

"Capone will not see any of his former associates, but only members of his family. His brother Ralph is with him now."

Wants Two More Days.

Capone is still in technical custody until Wednesday, when his prison term for income tax evasion officially ends, the Herald-American said. Describing his release, the paper stated

"With the greatest secrecy ever afforded a government prisoner, he was taken (from Terminal Island) by boat to the mainland at San Pedro, Calif., where he was placed on a slow train for the east.

"This was on Nov. 4, one day after his representatives paid $20,000, the remainder of his fine, to Hoyt King, clerk of the federal district court in Chicago."

Government Silent On Release Plans.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The justice department refused today to disclose "any information" on its plans for the release of Al Capone.

It issued the following statement: "Al Capone is still in federal custody. It would not be in the public interest at this time to disclose any information regarding plans for his release. Beyond this, there is no comment nor will there be any."

POST REWARD

Sportsmen Angered as Nimrod Shoots Geauga Farmer.

CHARDON—(INS)—A reward of $1,000 was offered today by the Chagrin Falls Fish and Game Association for the apprehension of a party of three hunters who shot and seriously wounded Robert Fenwick, 32, when he ordered them from his farm Saturday.

As another result of the shooting, Geauga county farmers organized a group to keep trespassing hunters off their land.

Fenwick, director of the Geauga county farm bureau, was believed in critical condition at first, but was pronounced "off the danger list" by Corey hospital attendants.

He was wounded in the abdomen, left hip and thigh when one of the three men turned and shot him after he had ordered them to leave his Claridon township farm.

Burton Disregards Superstition, Takes Office Oath Today.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Harold H. Burton today was to take the oath as Cleveland's mayor for his third successive term. He could have delayed the ceremony but chose to disregard superstition that the date—the 13th—would bring ill luck.

Six years ago when Harry L. Davis was inaugurated mayor of Cleveland he delayed the ceremony one day to avoid the 13th.

Closing one of the great iron gates barring the Maas river bridge

With all army leaves cancelled, her land forces at war strength and part of her lands already having been partially flooded as a "precautionary move," the small kingdom of the Netherlands has announced she is ready for any eventualities. Prime Minister D. J. DeGeer today said the Netherlands precautions were also a guarantee to belligerent powers that the Dutch would avoid taking sides. Should the long-threatened German "blitzkrieg" strike, it will find Holland, and her sister kingdom, Belgium, fully prepared. The Belgian mobilization has brought a defense army of 600,000 to that nation's threatened borders.

WANTS CITY TO PAY MORE OF CROSSING COST

County Seeks Equal Division of Expense of Eliminating Route 30 Traffic Peril.

OWN SHARE WOULD BE CUT

State Engineer to Make Survey to Set Up More Accurate Estimate on Job.

County commissioners had appealed today to the city to share half of the city-county cost of the proposed grade elimination project at the B. and O and Erie crossings on route 30 N just west of Mansfield.

Contending that "the city will get as much benefit from the project as the county," C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said he thought it was "only fair that the city should pay an equal share of the cost."

Council already has set up $21,500 as the city share of the cost and the county offered $50,000 on a five-year payment basis A two-way "split" of the cost would require each to pay $35,750, shifting about $14,000 from the county to the city's obligation.

Mayor Delays Answer.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter said there would be no answer to the county's request until the state highway department submits a more definite plan and cost estimate for the work.

"But I can't see why the city should pay half when it's the inter-state and inter-county traffic that uses the highway most," the mayor said.

Mitchell said the state had reduced its preliminary estimate of the cost of the viaduct and Erie subway from $600,000 to $500,000

"If they can come down $100,000, the first estimate must have been pretty high, and maybe we can get another reduction," he added.

The state turned down the commissioners' offer of $50,000 at the rate of $10,000 a year for five years. Last week, however, the state highway department agreed to accept the funds over a three-year period instead of two years, which had been the initial requirement.

A state highway department engineer will be here within a few days to survey the proposed project so that a definite cost can be set and plans can be submitted to the city and county, commissioners said.

Negotiations On Soviet Demands End In Failure

Finland's Envoys Go Home Following Apparent Refusal Of Russians To Modify Territorial Concessions; Naval Base Point Of Hot Issue.

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Finnish foreign office announced today that its delegation in Moscow would leave for home tonight, suspending the lengthy negotiations by which Russia has been seeking concessions from Finland.

The foreign office announcement was made shortly after 2 p. m. (8 a. m., EST).

Previously Foreign Minister Eljas Erkko had said that only "last minute" modification of Soviet demands for territorial concessions could prevent recall of the Finns from Moscow.

The negotiations were initiated Oct. 7 after Russia had won concessions from Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania, strengthening her millitary position in the west and north.

"There are no indications that further progress through negotiations is possible," Erkko said in an interview.

The foreign minister did not specify the points on which the negotiations stalled. Observers expressed belief, however, that the stumbling blocks were Russia's demands for a naval base on Finnish territory at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland and revision of the southern border between the two countries on the Karelian Isthmus.

Erkko hinted at this interpretation when he said to an American newspaperman

"I believe there is a place called Sandy Hook outside New York harbor. How would you like to hand that over to some one?"

He shrugged off as "part of the game" a week-end barrage of Russian press attacks on Finland's "obstinacy," but added.:

"When press attacks are inspired we have to take them into consideration as part of the discussion."

Calls It 'Dangerous Game.'

The Russian press comment included a warning from the newspaper Trud, Soviet trade union organ, that Finland is playing "a dangerous game" which "may have grave results."

An article in the Red Fleet, Russian naval newspaper, said that to protect Leningrad the Soviet must gain control of both sides of the Gulf of Finland as well as Finnish areas on the Arctic coast west of Murmansk.

Finland now has access to the Arctic ocean through a narrow strip of land between Norway and Russia.

All Russian newspapers also carried a dispatch by Tass, official Soviet news agency, accusing the Finns of intensifying their attitude of "irreconcilability" in the Moscow negotiations.

The Russian-Finnish talks were initiated Oct. 7.

HOLLAND: Don't Be Uneasy, Premier's Message To Country

(By Associated Press)

THE HAGUE, THE NETHERLANDS—Premier Dirk Jan De Geer told the Netherlands today "there is not a single ground for uneasiness" in the nation or empire despite "many rumors causing alarm" in the past few days.

Making his first radio speech since he became prime minister last summer, De Geer said the fear of imminent dangers for the Netherlands was caused by reports circulated abroad and by "certain measures of our government."

The belligerent nations, he said, have the darkest expectations about the intentions of their enemies and think of their own safety. Thus, De Geer said, they prepare for the worst, suppose that the worst already is at hand and "in good faith easily believe that the violation of our neutrality is likely."

"Therefore, I advise you to gird yourself against this belief," he said, "and remember that neutrality also requires a certain state of mind."

De Geer said that Holland's own defense measures had been misinterpreted and "it would be a fatal error on our part to conclude from these measures that threats to our frontiers had increased."

He declared that recent Netherlands precautions "for the strengthening and intensifying of our mobilization" were necessary because the tension on the western front "seemed to have increased."

De Geer reviewed precautionary measures taken by Holland during the World war and through other periods of intensified defense measures because of "certain temporary conditions which made it necessary for our preparedness to be more effective" and added:

"In all those cases the outcome was to prove that the people's fears were groundless. The present situation must be considered in the same light.

"Acute danger does not exist any more now that it did in the first days of September when all

PARIS: German Planes Reach French Capital, Drop No Bombs

(By International News Service)

PARIS—For the first time since the European war began, German planes flew over Paris last night, it was revealed today.

This flight was responsible, it appeared, for the air raid warning which routed Parisians from bed at 4:20 a. m. and sent them scurrying to shelters for almost an hour.

Sirens sounded the "all clear" signal at 5:15 a. m

The German aircraft came over the French capital directly from the east.

When they were fired on by anti-aircraft guns, they departed towards Belgium. French authorities said they apparently "again violated" Belgium's aerial neutrality.

No bombings by the German planes were reported

Meanwhile, reports from the front stated aerial activity increased there greatly yesterday. Pursuit and observation planes were busy on both sides of the front, and also on each side of the Rhine river.

Ground activity, according to the French, consisted of German reconnaissance patrols west and east of the Saar river. There were no attacks, but the patrols were described as "of a serious nature." All were driven off, it was claimed, and several prisoners captured

With light artillery action in progress it was revealed for the first time that the French heavier guns with a range of some 20 miles, have been used at various times to cut down attacks or patrols thrust forward by the Germans.

SEVERE QUAKE HITS NORTHWEST

Washington Cities Checking Damage Left by Heaviest Shocks in Years.

(By Associated Press)

SEATTLE—An earthquake described by University of Washington geologists as the heaviest in their seismograph's records, rocked large areas of the Pacific northwest shortly before midnight.

Officials and businessmen in Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Vancouver, B. C., and other cities surveyed damage caused by the shock that lasted approximately one minute.

Damage, however, was not expected to be great, consisting mostly of cracked walls in some buildings, broken water mains and broken power lines.

A check by state and other officials indicated no one was injured.

Seattle and Olympia residents rushed to the streets in their night attire and many spent the remainder of the night in auto camps.

A corner section of the National bank of Washington in Tacoma, weighing approximately 250 pounds, crashed six floors into an alley. Some plaster damage was reported in the state capitol at Olympia.

The quake appeared to extend over an area from Portland, north through Longview, Aberdeen and the Grays Harbor district, Tacoma, Seattle, Everett and Vancouver, B. C., and then cast almost to Spokane.

State to Send Inspector to Check City's Grade Crossings

In reply to his request for more adequate protection at grade crossings, the state utilities commission notified Mayor Claude M. Hunter today that an inspector would be sent to Mansfield to make an investigation.

The reply was received as the mayor mailed letters to the three railroads running through Mansfield notifying officials that the city was ready to enforce a city ordinance requiring trains to slacken their speed to eight an hour through the city.

The communications were directed to the Pennsylvania, Erie and B. & O. railroads and pointed out that the city had repeatedly asked for full-time protection at all grade crossings within the city limits.

Hunter last week wrote the utilities commission demanding co-operation in forcing the railroads to eliminate what he termed, "hazardous conditions" and notified them of the ultimatums that were to be sent to the companies.

One crossing—on Surrey road—scene of a recent fatal accident, was unguarded and five others are only partially protected.

MARRIOTT OPENS SLUGGING PROBE

Goes to Reformatory to Quiz Inmate; Charge Depends on Guard's Recovery.

County Prosecutor G. W Marriott said he would launch an investigation today into circumstances surrounding an attack on Charles J. McFadden, Ohio State reformatory guard who was seriously injured when slugged by an inmate in the institution furniture factory Saturday.

The prosecutor said he planned to question and take statements from witnesses and Ralph Copeland, 21-year-old Allen county colored inmate, who slugged McFadden with a heavy piece of wood. Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said Copeland had been lodged in a correction cell.

Criminal proceeding against the prisoner, Marriott said would depend upon the outcome of McFadden's injuries.

At the hospital where McFadden was removed late Saturday attendants reported his condition "unchanged." They said he suffered a possible skull fracture and may lose the sight of his left eye.

Glattke reported that McFadden sustained a deep wound over the eye.

The superintendent said the attack, which occurred without apparent provocation, took place

Lucy, dear:

I do believe this is just about the coldest day we've had so far this fall, but when the sun is out bright and clear as it has been today, one doesn't mind so much if it is a bit chilly.

* * * * *

BY THE WAY, Lucy, if you have any out-moded formals and you don't know what to do with them, I have the solution to your problem. . . . Send them over here to Mrs. Louis Meisse, Mrs. Estes Thompson and Mrs. Irving Clark—they make costumes from them and really do a swell job. . . . These costumes are used in the Children's Theater productions—particularly in "The Little Princess," which is being presented in the high school auditorium at 10 o'clock next Saturday morning under the direction of Harold McCuen. . . . These little gowns are old-fashioned models bustled and ruffled skirts, tight-fitting basques, velvet bows, high stiff collars, lace and fur trim. . . . And the hats are gay little petal affairs with snoods and chin bows. . . . Honestly Lucy, when looking at the finished frocks, you could never guess their origin.

. Marianne

* * * * *

And here's some interesting news, Lucy—two Butler high school boys, Raymond F. Sawdey and Robert L. Boals, have enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps. . . . They've been transferred to Parris Island, S. C., for their recruit training, and when this is completed they will start their travels—which may take them to the Phillipine Islands or Peiping, China!

* * * * *

I'M WONDERING if you saw Robert Brook while he was in town recently. . . . He came back from his job with Westinghouse at the New York fair to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brook on Merrybrook farm. . . . And now he's gone to Pittsburgh, Pa., where he'll again be affiliated with Westinghouse.

* * * * *

Not many of us ever have the thrill of seeing our names set on a bronze plaque—but that's just what Bette Jeanne Horner is experiencing now. . . . She has been made a member of the Smith Honorary Biological society at Smith college in Northampton, Mass., where she is a student—and so now, Bette's name will be added to those on the bronze plaque over the door of Burton Hall, the Zoology building on that campus. . . . It's no wonder her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dale Horner, are so proud of her, eh Lucy?

* * * * *

JOHN BURNS, a senior at Ohio Weselyan university in Delaware, stopped off here for awhile Saturday afternoon to visit with his family, the R. E. Burnses. . . . And they learned then that he has just been named for membership in Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, as a result of his outstanding work as editor of the Wesleyan campus magazine, Sulphur Spray.

* * * * *

Another collegian in the news today is Jean Sowers. . . . She's a senior at Otterbein college in Westerville, you know, and was more than busy last week with her activities as chairman of invitations for the Women's Athletic association annual banquet—an annual affair which featured the presentation of awards for outstanding athletic achievement. . . . Jean is the daughter of C. A. Sowers of Bellville.

* * * * *

LUCKY vacationers this week, Lucy, are Dr. and Mrs. K. G. Parker, who are staying at the Park hotel in Magnetic Springs. . . . And I guess that's all the news for today—I'll write again next week.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Try These New Recipes

By ALICE LYNN FARRY

Ever try adding nuts to your pineapple dishes? These recipes use macadamia nuts, which you may find just right for that "something different" on your menu.

A delicious salad is the first dish. Trim a fresh pineapple and then slice it in one-half-inch pieces. Place on a bed of lettuce, add quarters of oranges, alternating with cream cheese balls which have been rolled in finely-rolled macadamia nuts. Garnish with whole macadamia nuts.

A tasty pudding is made with four ounces butter, five ounces sugar, eight ounces macadamia nuts, one-half tablespoon orange water, two eggs, two egg yolks, a sixth of a pint of sweet cream and a pinch of salt. Mix to the consistency of a pomade the four ounces of butter and the five ounces of powdered sugar. Add the eight ounces of macadamia nuts (finely chopped), a pinch of salt, the one-half tablespoon of orange water, the two eggs and the two egg yolks, well-beaten, and the one-sixth pint of cream. Mix well. Pour in to a buttered pie dish and cook in a bainmarie in the oven. Serve either hot or cold.

Company Dessert.

Here is a dessert that will star at a company dinner. It is the ideal choice for guests who come in after dinner for dessert and coffee before beginning a bridge session. It is made with a quart of ice cream and four ounces crushed macadamia nut praline. Place a scoop of the mixture in a tall glass, decorate with whipped cream and a few whole macadamia nuts. To make the praline, take one-half cup crushed macadamia nuts mixed with one-half cup of sugar, with a little vanilla bean added. Stir the mixture in a copper sugar pan with a wooden spoon over the fire until it is well caramelized. Turn out on a slab and allow to cool. It can then be crushed for garnishing (delicious over fruit cups), or crushed and reduced to a paste for the ice cream mixture.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

Dicky did not keep us waiting long for his answer to the brutal ultimatum of the woman seated next him at the table near ours. He rose abruptly and spoke in a tone audible to us.

"My answer is NO!" he said.

The woman's answer was inaudible, but Harry translated it before Dicky made his second reply.

"Your wife's going to have an earful tomorrow," she said, threateningly.

"That must be as you please," he said. Then he bowed.

"I must beg you to excuse me now," he said, and turned toward the door.

The woman grinned in sinister fashion at her companion.

Waiting For Him.

"The poor fool!" she said, and Harry retailed the word. "He won't get far. They're waiting at both ends of the block."

"Harry!" Lillian gasped. "Get out there quick and nab him before he gets ten feet away. You'll see four of our men scattered around, but don't waste 'em on the hired hands. I want them for taking those two babies over there."

Her big husband rose obediently, but halted in his tracks at the striking tableau which was being enacted at a point between the table Dicky had just left, and the door toward which he was advancing. The woman Harry had spotted had risen swiftly to her feet and had intercepted him. We marked his reluctant acquiescence as she herded him back to her table, where he seated her with careful courtesy.

"She knows him!" Lillian gasped. "And we must know her! Who is she, Harry? I'll bet you've doped it out."

But her husband shook his head.

"No time for that now," he said. "I want to see what those other babies are broadcasting."

"You take them," his wife said, "and I'll try to read the ruby lips of the Dicky-bird and his unknown girl friend. Then we'll compare notes."

The colloquy of the two blackmailers—and worse—began in recrimination.

"Yah!" the man said explosively. "You thought you were so damned smart sizing up that dame. Get an eyeful of that, will ya?"

"Why!" the woman babbled, too astounded to notice the other's onslaught. "Why! she knows him!"

"You're d——d shouting, she knows him!" the man said. "I told you she was a 'G-woman,' but, no, you knew everything, and you pranced over there and let her smear it all over you. You probably gave her plenty to chew over while you were there. And you coming back, packed to the ears with that blah about her being a writer, and making a study of you. She'll make a study of you that'll land us both where we'll be inside looking out."

"Close your trap!" the woman said with sudden vehemence. "I'm thinking!"

Her companion, evidently schooled to obedience when she really became roused, subsided, and the woman watched Dicky and his companion intently for several seconds.

"That's no 'G-woman'!" she announced finally, with just a tinge of contempt in her voice. "That's some dame that's in love with the Dicky-bird. It sticks out all over her."

And suddenly I knew, with incredulous but crushing conviction, the name of the disguised woman who was talking so earnestly with my husband.

Don't Make Friends Too Quickly

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

This may sound to you like the last word of warning from Great-aunt Jane, as you jam your final belongings into a suitcase and prepare to rush for the train to seek your fortune in Big City.

But some things are as true today as they were when Great-aunt Jane acquired her worldly wisdom. And among them is the axiom to make haste slowly when you're making friends in a new environment.

Doubtless it's on the same principle pursued by a collector of valuable objects: that really worthwhile possessions are difficult to collect and hardly ever cheap.

Let's suppose you've acquired a promising job in Big City. You haven't any letters of introduction and you never believed such loneliness could exist. The come-easy, go-easy bunch you've run across somewhere are willing to receive you with open arms. True, they do seem a bit common and unlike the people you know back home. But you know how to take care of yourself, forgetting if you're seen round with them you're likely to be tagged with their hallmark.

So many letters have come to this column from girls who picked up acquaintances too easily, and then found these undesirables hanging on to them like leeches, when they could have made more interesting and helpful contacts.

Betty's tragi-comedy is case No. 1. She had some pretty splendiferous second cousins in the big town, where she had just secured a job. Her mother wrote them of Betty's coming, and Betty expected to be invited the next day or the day after at least. But the snooty relatives were away and didn't learn of the country cousin's arrival for some time. Meantime, Betty had identified herself with a gay bunch.

When finally she was bidden to dinner she had attended a cocktail affair in the afternoon and been the life of the party. The cousins were no prudes, but they had their limits and the small town girl was outside the safety zone at the dinner party. She was not invited again. And before the year was over, Betty had dropped most of her too gay friends.

She writes me that pretending to be something she was not was her Waterloo. It wasn't natural for her to be sporty and pretend to be a high flyer in the interests of popularity. She would like mightily to know the cousins who know everyone and have a delightful home, but they never seem to have forgotten how the girl arrived after the cocktail party.

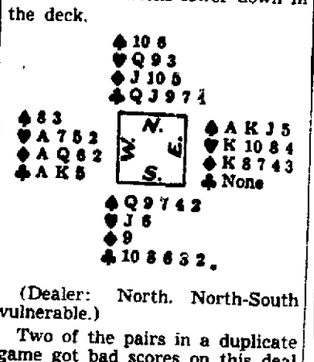
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

RESIST TEMPTATION

Artificial conventions, to locate the aces and kings, are fine if used with discretion. But they extend some alluring temptations which hasty players cannot resist. The important revelation that your side has all of the aces and kings does not assure a grand slam unless you can take your share of the tricks lower down in the deck.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Two of the pairs in a duplicate game got bad scores on this deal because of their misuse of the Blackwood convention. The early bidding was sound enough in each case, with East bidding 1-Diamond, West 1-Heart and East 3-Hearts at one table; and East 1-Diamond, West 2-Hearts and East 3-Hearts at the other table.

When West at each table now bid 4-No Trumps, asking his partner about the aces, East showed one of them with 5-Diamonds and West then asked about the kings with 5-No Trumps. When East showed three of them by bidding 6-Spades, West went to 7-Hearts at one table and 7-No Trumps at the other. These are the only pairs which were defeated.

West's use of the 4-No Trump bid, to ask about the aces, was sound enough, but his hand was hardly such that he should have thought about asking for kings, as he had only one queen and no very long suit.

With this kind of hand, he would have done just as well to go straight to 6-Hearts without ever using his convention, as the small slam was something he could reckon as probable with the information he already possessed.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, Nov. 14.

A day of decidedly mixed influences is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. There will be a highly-stimulated spirit of initiative and adventure, with close attention to a reorganization of old and static conditions which seem to enjoy a definite spurt through study and hard work. This diligence and clear appraisal of long stagnant circumstances should culminate in a general stabilization of the affairs, increase of possessions and a sounder financial footing. Hazardous situations call for very wise and sagacious management.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively year in re-establishing affairs on sounder foundations after a period of sluggishness and defeat. The energies will be under high impetus for this, with the judgment clear and with plans built on a system of new values. The latter concern property, finances and other major issues. But there are hazardous situations which call for vigilance and acumen, lest there be legal entanglements or some perilous use of funds.

A child born on this day may be energetic, profound, studious and well equipped to overcome adverse situations. Results should materialize in the latter part of life.

Tomorrow's Problem

YOU CAN GET A LOAN OF $100
IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $4.46 A MONTH
Read how you can borrow promptly and without asking others for help—No credit inquiries of friends or relatives

YOU need money? You can borrow—quickly and in privacy—if you can make small regular payments on your loan. You can borrow for any worthy purpose—to clean up old debts, to meet an emergency, to pay doctor or dental bills, to take advantage of an opportunity.

Suppose you need $100 and can repay $9.46 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, $4.46 a month for thirty months will also repay a $100 loan.

Choose your own payments

Find the amount of cash you need in the first column of the loan table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. Note that you may make very small payments if you prefer. Or you may pay larger installments and pay up sooner. See how little your loan costs if you repay in a short time. A loan of $100 repaid in four months costs only $5.04.

Simple to borrow

All you do to get a Household Finance loan is tell us about your needs. We ask for no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. No credit inquiries are made of friends or relatives. You don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan promptly.

One rate to everyone

Household has only one price—the same rate to all, whether new customers or former borrowers.

In case of sickness or unemployment Household shows the borrower every consideration. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 10,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

Get details—no obligation

Why don't you get complete information? Phone or visit us today. There's no obligation if you do not borrow.

Payments are calculated at Household's rates of 2% per month on loans up to $300 and 6% per year on balances above $300 up to $500. These rates are less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law.

Honor Puritans This Season

Take a tip from the Puritan housewives, and glorify maple syrup in a delectable Thanksgiving dessert. Before the first Thanksgiving was celebrated, they had discovered the flavor joys of maple syrup. And when the first snow came they concocted a tempting sweet by pouring maple syrup slowly on snow.

Maple nut ice cream is a delectable descendant of this early sweet. Serve it for Thanksgiving dessert, with little Pilgrim dolls and a candy log fence to guard it. Nowadays ice cream qualifies as a quick and easy dessert if you use this short-cut recipe made with sweetened condensed milk. You'll be sure of a creamy triumph that's magically free of ice crystals

Maple Nut Ice Cream.

(Automatic Refrigerator Method)

⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
2 teaspoons maple flavoring
¼ cup chopped nut meats
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water and maple flavoring thoroughly. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Fold in chopped nut meats. Pour into freezing tray. Place in freezing unit. When mixture is about half frozen remove from refrigerator. Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of tray. Beat until smooth but not melted. Smooth out and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving.

SEES CANADA AS ARMS AND MANPOWER BASE FOR ALLIES

(By United Press)

MONTREAL — Canada may become the Allies' chief arms and munitions source and training center of the "brains" of the war if the conflict in Europe lasts a long time, Dr. Michael Heilperin, Polish-born economist and writer, believes.

The dominion, he said, would likely prove a vital factor in the war because of her position as a supplier of raw materials and an impregnable industrial area.

"It is very great advantage to Great Britain to have a part of her supplies come from a country which is not in the direct area of war," he explained, "where industry can proceed undisturbed whatever happens. This is an advantage which Germany does not possess."

Heilperin said that war-time conditions may make it difficult for Britain and France to train technical men, particularly engineers and physicians, at home. Canada would be able to provide the proper scientific schools and training for them

Heilperin predicted that Germany would be the first of the countries in Europe to have a shortage of technicians. German universities, he said, have been producing fewer technicians in recent years because of the stress the Nazi regime has placed on military training.

The allies, he said, held a great advantage over the enemy in respect to raw materials. While efforts have been made by the belligerents to make themselves self-sufficient, none of the countries, he said, could claim to be so.

CHAPTER XXIV

Harry took up with gusto the idea of bicycling, and his tooling along in the rear beside Rita did not improve the dispositions of either of the two women riding ahead. Delores was fuming with chagrin, and Selia was apprehensive on Roger's account.

Selia finally made it a point to call back at Rita, "Did you hear from Roger this morning, dear?"

And when Rita scowled and answered, "No, I didn't," Selia added, "Oh, how stupid of me! I forgot to tell you he called me up last night—he'll be too busy to get down here for the week-end. That's the way—when a man's getting ready to marry—he has to have his busines affairs in shape."

"Who is Roger?" quickly inquired Harry, his knees comically bumping the handlebars at every rotation of his long thin legs.

"Roger's the man I'm engaged to," Rita told him bluntly.

"But you met me only this morning, beloved," he said, for her ears alone.

Her cheeks reddened. She laughed derisively. "That's the way it goes. Maybe fate had a hand in it."

She pedaled fast, scooted past her mother and Selia and jumped off her machine far up ahead beside a fragrant incense bush. She snatched off a cluster of golden bossoms, stuck them in her hair.

Delores rode up to her swiftly, leaped to the ground with, "For an engaged girl, Rita, you're making a regular show of yourself—and a perfect fool of me!"

Rita looked this angry mother of hers straight in the eyes. Bitterly. Was it then to be cruel battle between them from now on? How—ridiculous! Was this the pretty, merry-minded creature who had brightened her childhood?

And suddenly, Rita felt about as lonely as she eved had—as if a lovely soft light in her life had forever dimmed.

Rita continued to gaze at Delores in unbelief, thoroughly resentful. Then abruptly, her heart softened. This middle-aged woman, fighting so pathetically to hold vapid romance—she pitied her.

"I think your Harry's a bore," Rita told her frankly. "Really, what can you see in him . . ."

Harry was now riding up with Selia, and Rita could not finish. So she called out breezily, "Race you to the corner, Selia!" And away she and Selia flew on their bicycles, leaving Delores to captivate the crestfallen man beside her.

At the corner Selia and Rita jumped off their wheels and sat down to rest in the shade of an old palm. They could see that Delores was detaining Harry up the road, making him pick great bunches of rose verbenas that clung picturesquely to the hillside.

Selia tucked a gray lock under the crimson scarf tied around her head, and said seriously, "Franklin, Rita — I'm worried over Roger. I know it would please him if you made a surprise visit to town. You could take the morning plane, walk into his office, and insist he stop this exaggerated flare for business—come back with you for a week."

"Aren't you borrowing trouble, Selia? Isn't Roger trying to be—be different? Now that his father's gone . . ."

"Yes, I know. But it isn't like Roger. Will you go — just to please me?"

"Why, of course, if you wish it, Selia—although he's probably too busy to think of taking a real vacation."

"Oh, you can change that It's not natural for a man to drive himself so hard."

"His father did," Rita reminded her.

"That was different. Dain was a human dynamo—wore himself out. I don't want Roger doing that."

Rita thought, "Oh, inconsistent woman! She'll have Roger back in his playboy ways if she's not careful. But I suppose it's up to me to talk to Roger."

The sun was hot, a magnificent flame of power overhead, but enervating to the two older women, whose diet never allowed decent hunger to be appeased. When Rita and Selia rejoined Delores and Harry, Selia suggested turning back, and Rita was in full accord. Selia and Delores looked wilted with weariness, which contrasted unfavorably with Rita's pink freshness. But Rita, too, had had enough cycling for one day, and was ready to call it a trip.

On the way back a freakish gusty wind from the mountains stirred up the sand, twisting and bending the cacti, the palms and yuccas. Cottontail rabbits, chipmunks and gophers were scurrying to cover, a sure sign that nature was on the rampage. The little party of four, pedaling laboriously back to the hotel, found conversation impossible. Sand was in their eyes, their ears, their nostrils; they were bent nearly double over the handlebars, using all their strength to make the wheels go around.

Back in her room at last, Rita shut the door on the foolishly self-centered Delores, the non-complexed Selia, and the fire of conquest in the creepy-looking eyes of Harry Handy. Thank goodness, she was flying to town in the morning, getting away from all this Palm Spring mixup for a few hours!

But by morning things were still complicated for Rita. The persistent Hary Handy decided he had business in Los Angeles, and would accompany her on the plane. She was highly incensed, and Delores was nearly desperate, but nothing it seemed could be done to prevent a man from making a reservation on the morning plane if he so desired. Rita would willingly have postponed her trip and allowed Harry to go on without her, but Selia insisted that nothing must interfere with Rita's plans to see Roger. Selia was even willing to take a chance on Harry as Rita's companion.

So, much to the consternation and chagrin of Delores, the plane took off with Rita and Harry securely belted in their seats. The apricot-tinted sky, slashed here and there with orange and crimson and purple, made a panorama beyond description. But Rita was only vaguely conscious of it, so filled was she with a peculiar presentment of pending evil.

She wished she had not started away this morning. But here she was high in the air, and soon she was smiling at the pretty hostess, and drinking tea with Harry, being halfway civil to him in spite of the utter contempt she now held for him.

She wondered if he possessed second sight when he insisted upon accompanying her in the taxicab to Roger's lumber office, in a drab section of the city. Roger was out. At the satisfied smirk this caused on Harry's face, Rita was angry, and nearly told him to go about his own business and leave her alone. It was more aggravating when Mr. Lee, the bookkeeper, said that Roger had gone away for the week-end.

"How provoking!" Rita exclaimed. "He's probably reached the Springs by this time—and here I am!"

Mr. Lee coughed discretely, gave her a sharp look over the rim of his horn-rimmed spectacles, acted embarrassed, but explained nothing further. At the moment, she thought this odd but later, when she had obtained certain facts, she understood how difficult it was for Mr. Lee to satisfy her curiosity, and be loyal to his employer as well.

"Where to now?" asked Harry in an annoyingly amused tone. "With the boy-friend out of the running, my opportunity has come. Hungry?"

"No, I'm not!" she said decisively. "I'll have to go back to the Springs at once!"

They were walking toward the waiting taxicab now. She got in, and Harry gave the driver the name of a popular restaurant and climbed in beside her.

"But I'm not lunching—I'm going back to . . ."

"Rita, darling—don't be too sure your Roger is where you think he is. You women have too much faith sometimes. You'd better take up with the man at hand—meaning myself. I have to make a phone call—then we'll get something to eat. Later, we'll motor back to the desert in a taxi. Will that do?".

Mansfield Man Joins Others In Praising Vendol Medicine

Tappan Stove Co. employee declares it relieved sour stomach, gas, acid risings, palpitation, and other troubles due to constipation. Advises all to try it.

MR. FRED W. SEITH

"I'm actually feeling better today than at any time in the past year, and Vendol must get all the credit for it," declared Mr. Fred W. Seith of 76 Newlon Place, Mansfield, in a recent talk with the Vendol Man who is daily meeting so many satisfied Vendol customers at Central Drug Store.

"I can't praise Vendol enough for the wonderful relief it brought me from the worst constipated condition anyone could have, and this is what caused so much distress in others ways.

"Everything I ate soured in my stomach, formed gas, bloated me out and made acid risings come up in my throat that burned like fire. I often felt there was a lump in my throat which I couldn't swallow. My breath was so short that my heart would palpitate wildly. I became so nervous that my sleep was light and I was often awake several times during a night.

"If Vendol had been made for my case alone, it couldn't have helped more than it did!

"After taking it along with the little Vendol laxative tablets a few days, I got the most satisfying relief from constipation. Then I began to eat anything coming on the table but never having a sign of gas, acid indigestion, or palpitation later. I feel rested and strong now since my sleep is so peaceful and I am giving my experience because I feel I should let others know about Vendol, if they suffer from the same cause as mine."

Vendol has helped many Mansfield people in the same way. Call on the Vendol Man at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., and let him tell you all about this great Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine. Vendol is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

Tygers Seek Fifth Win in Annual Game at Stadium Field Saturday.

COACH PAUL SNYDER'S Mansfield high Tygers go after their sixth win of the season at Stadium field Saturday when they entertain the Whippets of Shelby in the season's final game.

With all the county schools hanging up their football togs in last week's tussle, the Mansfield-Shelby game will highlight the gridiron hostilities in this vicinity.

Mt. Vernon closes its season on Tuesday night this week when it treks to Marion for an engagement with the Harding high Presidents in a North Central Ohio Conference game.

Marion, sporting a five-game winning streak in the conference competition, has already won the championship and the outcome is not expected to cause much concern. The tilt was previously scheduled for Friday night, but rain forced the postponement.

Mansfield's three-game winning record was broken last Saturday when the Canton McKinley Bulldogs gained a 6 to 3 decision at Stadium field.

A desperate aerial that Matt Brown gathered in his arms in the end zone in the final five minutes of the game proved to be the winning margin.

Harold LeMunyon gave the Tygers its 3-0 lead in the third period with a 11-yard field goal.

Co-Capt. Howard "Tick" Hamilton of Bellville boosted his total to 187 points in the state individual scoring race as the Bluejays smothered an inexperienced Butler high team, 68 to 7, at Bellville in the homecoming game Saturday.

The Rams of Madison high closed its season with a scoreless tie with Loudonville in the mud Saturday morning at Loudonville.

WHAT'S THE DIFF?

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)— When Ed Simonich, former Notre Dame gridder, came out here to coach Carroll college this season, he was asked if he feared possible earthquakes, such as the city experienced several years ago. "After the Notre Dame-Army game," said Ed, " a few earthquakes more or less could make NO difference."

Unbeaten Clubs Face Real Test

Tennessee, Cornell, Oklahoma In Decisive Battles Next Week End; Ohio State Faces Illinois.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—It appears likely that more things will be settled definitely about college football teams next Saturday than on any one day all this season.

Elimination of Notre Dame and Catholic university from the unbeaten list last week-end were incidents in the shift of power from the south to the midlands which saw Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Ohio State, Georgia Tech, Clemson and Santa Clara move up to threaten the powers that be.

It was Iowa, which stopped a great Irish winning streak back in 1921, that did the trick again Saturday, 7 to 6, Catholic U., was a real upset victim, losing 39-13 to little St. Anselm.

* * *

These defeats reduced the list of unbeaten and untied leaders to Cornell, Duquesne, Texas A. and M., and Tennessee, with San Jose State of California, winner of ten straight, and Colorado Mines thrown in for good measure. Tied but undefeated are Georgetown, Rutgers, Oklahoma, North Carolina, Tulane, Richmond, Southern California and U. C. L. A.

This week's program of decisive battles in various sections shapes up like this:

East: Cornell-Dartmouth is this week's biggest eastern game. The big red just did skim by Colgate, 14-12. Dartmouth took its first defeat, 9-7, at Princeton's hands. Unbeaten, untied Duquesne takes the week off after its 7-0 win over North Carolina State.

Georgetown, seeking its second straight undefeated season, follows its 20-0 win over Maryland with an encounter with deflated New York U., 20-7 victim of Missouri. Holy Cross, whipped Temple 14-0 and faces Carnegie Tech, 6-0 victim of Pitt. Army, routed 15-0 by Harvard, plays Penn State.

The Princeton-Yale rivalry takes its leading spot even though the Elis tied Brown, 14-14.

In the intersectional line, Pitt takes on Nebraska; Pennsylvania, 10-0 upset victim of Penn State, meets Michigan. Fordam, 13-0 winner over Indiana, has its annual tussle with St. Mary's; Columbia, which beat Navy 19-13, bumps into Tulane which defeated Alabama 13-0.

South: If the southern conference title isn't decided by this week's Duke-North Carolina game, it probably never will be, for Clemson and Richmond both have changes to tie the survivor. The Blue Devils warmed up for the crucial contest by beating Virginia Military 20-7 while the Tar Heels whipped Davidson 32-0.

Clemson, 20-7 winner over Wake Forest, takes on Southwestern of Tennessee in a breather while Richmond, after stopping Virginia Tech 13-0, meets Hampden-Sydney.

Tennessee, whose George Cafego was hurt in a 34-0 rout of the Citadel, returns to southeastern conference competition against Vanderbilt, which beat Sewanee 25-7. Georgia Tech, which moved into a tie for the conference lead with Tennessee and Tulane by beating Kentucky 13-6, encounters Alabama. Auburn, 10-9 winner over Villanova, meets Louisiana State.

Mid-West: The week's gridiron "natural" is Oklahoma vs. Missouri, the game that likely will settle the Big Six championship. The Sooners, tied only by Southern Methodist, conquered Kansas State 13-10 to tie Missouri for the conference lead. Kansas State-Iowa State is the other conference pairing while Kansas plays George Washington.

There's no way of deciding the Big Ten title without considering Ohio State, which had only a light workout in beating Chicago 61-0. The Buckeyes' next opponent is Illinois, whose Jimmy Smith led the way to a 7-0 victory over Wisconsin. Iowa, very much in the picture, meets Minnesota, which walloped Michigan 20-7. Notre Dame starts its comeback against Northwestern, 3-0 victim of Purdue.

Southwest: The southwest conference had its "biggest" game with Texas A. and M. edging out Southern Methodist 6-2. Rice was held to a 12-12 tie by Arkansas. S. M. U. plays Arkansas Friday while Baylor, after its 20-0 win over Texas, plays Centenary. Texas plays Texas Christian, 16-0 winner over Tulsa.

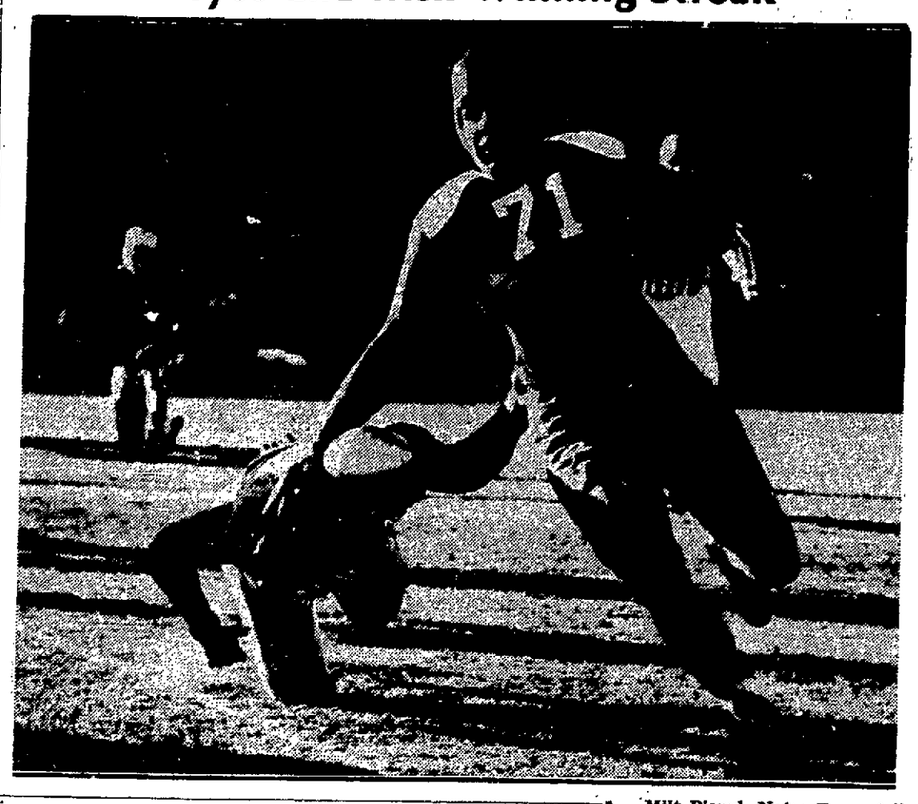
Pacific Coast: Southern California forged to the front in the Pacific Coast conference by whipping Stanford 33-0 while U. C., La. A. was idle.. This week it's the Unclans' turn to show their strength as they play Santa Clara, which beat Michigan State 6-0. Meanwhile third-place Oregon State, which beat Oregon 19-14, faces California, beaten by Washington 13-6 for its fourth conference defeat and Washington State meets Stanford.

Rocky Mountain: They're still waiting for the Colorado-Denver game to decide the Big Seven crown. Colorado's next opponent is Brigham Young, which played a 0-0 tie with Utah State, and Denver plays an outsider, Idaho.

HUGE QUARTERBACK

CHICAGO—(CP)—In the National pro league even the quarterbacks may be giants. George Faust, Chicago Cardinal quarterback, is six feet one and weighs 205 pounds.

As Hawkeyes End Irish Winning Streak



Milt Piepul, Notre Dame fullback, smashes off tackle at start of a 50-yard run for a touchdown against Iowa, but Zontini missed the place kick and Iowa won the game by a score of 7-6, toppling the Irish from the ranks of the undefeated. Forty-five thousand fans crowded the Iowa City stadium. The Hawkeyes used only 15 players in scoring the sensational upset.

Bantams Hand All Star Club 26-12 Beating

Durbin Tallies Twice to Pace Adams' Gridders.

Adams' bantamweight football combine scored at least one touchdown in all but the opening period to hand the Polish All Stars a 26 to 12 beating at Taylor Dise field yesterday.

Led by Durbin, who tallied two markers, the Adams' aggregation broke a 6-6 deadlock in the third period with a tally and then pushed over two touchdowns in the final frame to gain the one-sided decision.

Hess proved to be the big menace to the bantamweights as he went over for both of the All Stars' touchdowns.

The Bantams gained a 6-0 advantage in the second period, but Hess knotted the score shortly after the intermission. Adams' outfit was not to be denied and it regained a 13-6 lead by tallying near the end of the quarter.

Gemzer and J. Cervinski of the All Stars and Bush, Durbin and Krupp and Miller of the Bantams turned in stellar performances.

CLEVELAND BARONS HAND SYRACUSE 3-2 BEATING

SYRACUSE—(INS)— The Cleveland Barons had added another scalp to their belts today with the defeat of the Syracuse Stars, 3 to 2, in an International-American hockey league scrap last inght.

Gracie scored the deciding goal in the final period after Toupin had netted one for Syracuse in the same period to tie the score at two-all.

Miller, Moreil Tangle In Top Event on Mat Card Tonight

THE Quality club's second indoor mat show of the season swings into action at the Armory at 8:30 p. m. today.

Heading the show and clashing in the main event of two best out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit are Josef Morell, the great physical marvel from Hungary and Walter Miller, rugged, smart lightheavyweight from Atlanta, Ga.

Moreil is one of the most powerful men to show on the local wrestling pad while his American opponent features a dazzlingly varied attack headed by the dreaded step-over toehold. With this grip made famous by the immortal Frank Gotch, Miller turned in the prize upset of the season here two weeks ago by defeating the heavily favored Great Mephisto.

The semi-final tonight will send into action one of the most colorful figures in the junior heavyweight division, "Indian Ike" Cazzell, half-breed Indian from Laredo, Texas. Cazzell is to meet Charley Layden, a classy Hoosier boy from Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Opening the show, Bud Steele, husky local boy will meet "Curly" McCloud, one of the best of the crop of lightheavies from Columbus. It'll be Ladies Night and the first 100 members of the fair sex will be admitted to the Armory free of charge.

Suffer First Home Defeat

Supplies Drop 13 to 3 Decision to Touted Carrollton Metals at Blue Goose Field Sunday.

By CHARLES MARTIN

WHATEVER ambitions the Mansfield Automotive Supplies had of finishing the home side of their semi-pro schedule without a defeat were blasted yesterday by a former all-Ohio collegiate halfback.

He is "Beanie"" Patton, erstwhile Muskingum college gridder, and the elusive pigskin carrier sprinted through the Mansfield club twice on long touchdown jaunts to enable the Carrollton, O., Metals to inflict a 13 to 3 defeat at Blue Goose field before some 500 spectators in a benefit game for Melvin Harner, Automotive back, who was injured in the opening game.

Patton, who coaches at Carrollton high school, contributed his goalward runs in the second half to overtake the Supplies' 3 to 0 lead.

His first dash came late in the third period. The Metals were on their own 45 and Patton went off right tackle and eluded six tacklers to scamper into the end zone unmolested. 'Chief' Hendrix, the Indian from Haskell, added the point from placement to give Carrollton a 7-3 lead.

And then, possibly to prove his first feat was no fluke, Patton dashed 41 yards through left tackle for the other score. A bad pass from center robbed Hendrix of a chance of adding the point.

Al Schwaner, the Supplies' ace ball backer, spotted his team to its 3-0 lead in the first quarter with a perfect field goal from the Carrollton 32-yard stripe. He attempted another from the Metals' 25 in the third, but the ball fell short of its goal.

Coach Earl McMullen's outfit marched into Carrollton territory numerous times, but lacked the punch to penetrate pay dirt. In the early minutes of the opening chapter the Supplies reached the Metals' seven-yard line but lost the ball on downs.

Again in the second stanza the Mansfielders marched to the Carrollton three, only to have the invaders' forward wall stiffen and take the ball on downs.

Mansfield, which collected 12 first downs while Carrollton was piling up six, held command of the situation except for the two touchdown sprints.

A desperate Supply aerial attack took it to the Metals' nine in the fading seconds of the game. Vern Heiser heaved a pass to George Hummel in the end zone on fourth down, but it nicked the tip of his fingers and bounded out of the field.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

I am running this announcement and paying for this advertising space because I believe that an opportunity has arisen which may or may not last very long, for me to do a service to the people of this city who, in the past, have favored me with their tire and tube business.

Prices of almost everything have been going up since the first of September when things started to happen over in Europe. The experts tell us that prices are going to keep on going up. Now, right on top of a situation like that, Goodrich has just announced a general reduction in the price of tires and tubes ranging up to 14% of list prices. Even before this reduction, these Goodrich tires were certainly real value for the money, but at these new low prices they are a great buy.

As long as these low prices stay in effect, I can sell you a 6.00 x 16 Goodrich Safety Silvertown with Life-Saver Tread that formerly listed at $15.95 for only $13.95 and give you a good allowance for your old tire too. A 6.00 x 16 Goodrich Golden Ply Silvertown that formerly listed at $14.35 now sells for $12.35 and the Goodrich Standard that was listed at $11.95 now sells for $10.45. All other tire prices are also reduced.

You know as well as I do that tires are a necessity. If your tires are wearing down smooth they aren't safe for winter driving and you'll have to replace them sooner or later if you want to stay on the safe side. The Goodrich testing engineers tell us that tires don't wear as much in the winter as Peace Plea Replies No Surprise, Nazis Say.

BERLIN— (AP) —Authorized sources said today the British and French replies to the Belgian-Netherlands offer to mediate in the European war were in line with recent public utterances in London and Paris and had caused no surprise here.

Inspired press comment in both Britain and France during the past two days forecast clearly, these sources said, what the reply would be—namely a further indication of the will to war.

DNB, German official news agency, said political circles "declare these notes differ neither in spirit nor content from the tone previously used by the British government in the hope of provoking the German people."

On the war front, an increase in activity was noted as the German high command reported that "strong enemy scouting troops" had been repulsed in fresh assaults on strategic hilltops southwest of Pirmasens and that 25 of the attackers had been captured.

British Stand Pat On Terms for Peace.

LONDON —(AP)— Authoritative British quarters asserted today that King George's reply to the Netherlands-Belgian peace move meant Britain would "insist on full reparation of wrong's done by Germany to her small neighbors."

It also was reported that British-Russian trade negotiations have reached the point of exchange of lists of commodities to be sold under any agreement reached.

Britain showed no sign of hope that a peace-making Germany would step through the door technically left ajar by the king's response.

A caustic speech by Winston Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, just a few hours after the king replied, showed how slender the present chances for peace were considered.

The press again recited Britain's broadly stated aims and called attention to a more specific provision in French President Albert Lebrun's answer to Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold—that Germany should repair "the injustices which force has imposed on Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland."

(Adolf Hitler has said repeatedly that Germany would have no peace which called for restoration of Poland as in independent state.)

missioners agreed that the state's requests have been "too indefinite," both from the standpoint of total cost and what the state proposes to build.

"We went out on a limb in offering $21,500 for the work, and now we have a right to know what is going to be done before we raise our offer," Mayor Hunter said. "We have never been told how much of the crest of the West Fourth street hill will be lowered or how wide the viaduct over the B. and O. tracks will be," he added.

City council specified at the time the $21,500 was set up that that figure was to be the city's limit. The amount will pay property damages within the city and a part of the viaduct cost.

Candidates Tied, Flip of Coin to Decide Race Looms

The county election board will determine at a meeting late this afternoon whether it will be necessary to flip a coin to decide the winner in a tie vote for trustee of Plymouth township.

The board will re-check the vote for trustee and examine the defaced ballots which may break the tie if it is found that one or more of them can be counted in the tabulation.

S. H. Cashman and Virgil Baird, the candidates who were tied with 241 votes each in the unofficial count, have been invited to witness the re-check. If the tie remains, a coin will be flipped at the election board office to decide the contest.

The board at its session today will also announce the official count for all city, village, township and school board offices.

when the guard questioned the inmate concerning his work.

Classed as a "troublesome" inmate, Copeland was transferred to the reformatory from the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus on July 5 because of his age. He is serving a one to five-year term for possessing burglar tools, Glattke said, and attempted unsuccessfully to escape on Oct. 2.

In Columbus, Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said the department would wait to see the outcome of McFadden's injuries before deciding what action should be taken again Copeland. He noted that even should no other action be taken the department has authority to transfer Copeland back to the penitentiary.

SHIP CHASED BY SUBMARINE SAFE

15 Other Vessels Evade Attack, One Cut In Two By Torpedo.

BOSTON—(AP)—The Furness Withy Liner Nova Scotia was safe in port today after she and 15 other vessels evaded a submarine which, crew members reported, ran through a British naval convoy and cut one of the accompanying merchantmen in two with a torpedo in mid-Atlantic.

Members of the Nova Scotia's crew said they could not identify the torpedoed boat as her markings had been painted out, but they believed naval vessels rescued most of those aboard the sunken craft.

Directly after the hit was scored, the Nova Scotia's crew said, destroyers dropped depth charges, but they were uncertain whether the submarine was trapped.

CHIEFTAINS at Republic studio discovered this week that they had their first, eight-reel, full length Gene Autry Western film on their hands—and not a single rootin', shootin', tootin', spree in it. Not a shot is fired, not a redskin bites the dust. "Rovin Tumbleweeds" was made by Producer William Berke, who has directed the killing of so many villains, so many Indians, that he feels like a one-man war. So he decided to eliminate the six-guns in this first big Gene Autry opus of the West. Maybe the cash customers won't like it; maybe they want to see Autry shoot a couple of villains in the last reel, but the experiment is an interesting one — both for Berke and the audience.

Holds Interest.

Claudette Colbert is a tense, gallant little figure in "Drums Along the Mohawk," which is being shown at the Ohio. Her fight, shoulder to shoulder, with her husband, played by Henry Fonda, keeps the audience's interest and sympathy from beginning to end. Edna May Oliver plays the stalwart widow who shared her home with the young pioneers, as probably no other character actress could play it. She is the character as it was portrayed by the author of the novel. Technicolor adds to the beauty of the film.

Laughton Here To Stay.

Charles Laughton returned to America just before the war broke out and, unless he should be called home for service, the English actor undoubtedly will remain here until the end of the war. His current film, "Jamaica Inn," which is being shown at the Madison, will be followed by "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." "Jamaica Inn" shows Laughton at his screen vilest, but his spectacular death at the end compensates for his villainies.

Aviation Story at Park.

The cartoon strip, "Tailspin Tommy," comes to life in the picture, "Danger Signal," which is current at the Park theater. John Trent, who portrays the role of "Tailspin Tommy," is cast as a transport pilot which is not a new role for him as he was a transport pilot before entering the movies, and has more than 2,000 hours in the air to his credit. Cast with Trent is Marjorie Reynolds, Milburn Stone, Jason Robards, and Dennis Moore. This picture shares honors with Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer in "When Tomorrow Comes," and continues through Wednesday.

Bancroft Returns.

George Bancroft who some time ago announced his retirement from the movies because, as he explained it, "Once I became a film star the fun began to go out of it, and instead of being a sheer pleasure, it became a grind," returns to the "grind" again in the picture, "Each Dawn I Die," which stars James Cagney and George Raft, at the Ritz theater. Also on the same bill is "Josette," starring Simone Simon, Don Ameche, Robert Young and Joan Davis.

Taylor, Loy at Majestic.

A modern comedy of New York's gay life forms the background for the picture, "Lucky Night," which opens Wednesday at the Majestic theater, with Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor as the stars. It is the story of a penniless playboy who gambles on a girl's luck to make a fortune overnight, the girl with luck being the spoiled daughter of a millionaire steel magnate. This gay comedy is being shown along with the foreign-made film, "Grand Illusion," featuring Jean Gabin, Pierre Fresnay and Eric von Stroheim.

"Germany spends $5,000,000 monthly on maintaining its spy system"—news item. We don't believe it—no nation's secrets were ever worth that much dough.

The feature we will miss most of all when the football season is over are those pictures of lovely drum majorettes.

STOCK LEADERS GAIN FRACTIONS IN SLOW MART

Traders Eye Steel Reports Showing Rapid Advance in Shipments During Period.

NEW YORK — Recovery signs appeared in today's stock market after a spotty opening and leading issues moved up fractions to a point or so.

Brokers reported some reinstatement of commitments are due to latest European indications that the war may be drawn out. In addition, domestic business prospects remained as a bar to liquidation.

Foreign securities markets generally did better. Bonds and commodities were moderately mixed.

Market followers studied the survey of the magazine "Steel" which found that, while buyers of the metal were showing no let-down in immediate needs, they were less active in making forward commitments.

The rapidity with which mills stepped up shipments in the past 60 days, it was said, had done much to allay fears of serious delays in deliveries next quarter. It was noted, though, that with early requirements satisfied, some purchasers were awaiting price announcements for the next period before contracting extensively.

Mills already have fairly large backlogs for early 1940 delivery, the publication added, particularly in flat-rolled steel, and indications point to no market slackening in production with the turn of the year.

NU-BLUE SUNOCO

The new miracle of gasoline chemistry

Tested, not against ordinary gasolines, but against premium-priced motor fuels . . . by 1475 motorists in 14 cities.

They voted 9 to 1 that Nu-Blue Sunoco equalled or excelled premium-priced gasolines in road performance!

HERE'S HOW THEY VOTED

QUESTIONNAIRE

Comparing this new gasoline to the premium-priced gasoline you have been using:

In knockless performance — As good? Better? Not as good?	91.2% Said As Good or Better
On pick-up, acceleration — As good? Better? Not as good?	93.7% Said As Good or Better
For power, especially on hills — As good? Better? Not as good?	94.9% Said As Good or Better
For all-around performance — As good? Better? Not as good?	90.3% Said As Good or Better

During September and October, 1475 critical users of premium-priced gasolines were asked to test an unidentified, colorless gasoline which was in reality Nu-Blue Sunoco with the coloring left out. From Florida to Canada, these tests were conducted, not by us, but by independent, unbiased research authorities, and when the returns were summarized, it was found that these motorists voted 9 to 1 in favor of Nu-Blue Sunoco! 9 out of 10 proclaimed it equal or superior to premium-priced gasolines they had used previously.

To make a fair test, don't dilute Nu-Blue Sunoco with other gasoline. Let your tank run practically empty. Then put in Nu-Blue Sunoco. Compare it particularly with premium-priced gasolines. We'll rest our case on your findings.

The quicker you start using Nu-Blue Sunoco the quicker you'll start!

Snow Cruiser In Boston for Transfer to Byrd's Ship

2,000,000 SEE 'ROAD HOG' ON FINAL JAUNT

37-Ton Vehicle Causes Jam in Traffic, 270,000 Autos Diverted From Route.

(By International News Service)

BOSTON—Completing the final leg of a 1,000 mile journey from Chicago started 22 days ago, Admiral Richard E. Byrd's giant Antarctic snow cruiser arrived in Boston today.

The last leg was a 25-mile jaunt started before dawn from the Framingham state police barracks. Final destination was the army base at south Boston where the huge lumbering 37-ton vehicle was to be loaded hastily aboard the south pole bound motorship North Star.

Unprecedented traffic jams were caused yesterday as more than 2,000,000 persons in a line stretching entirely across the state, welcomed the huge "road hog" as it entered Massachusetts from New York near Pittsfield, and made its perilous way up and down the Berkshire hills, and across the Bay state.

State police in cruising cars and on motorcycles "ran interference," diverting an estimated 270,000 automobiles from the route. But the jam of sightseers was terrific and became worse as the cruiser came closer to Boston.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, designer and operator of the craft which has 22 control gadgets, was nearly exhausted from the nervous tension when he arrived at Framingham at dusk Sunday.

Feared Traffic Jam.

He was urged to continue to Boston in the hope of arriving before midnight but when told there were more than 70,000 automobiles crammed along the 25 miles remaining, he called a halt.

Spectators, he said, were getting too close to the giant 10-foot diameter wheels of the cruiser—each wheel alone dwarfs an automobile. After an overnight rest, state police called Dr. Poulter and his crew from their beds early this morning, they warmed up the engines 15 minutes beforehand, and with 100 policemen providing an escort, embarked on the final leg of the overland journey.

After being loaded on the North Star, the snow crusier will not operate under her own power again until set down on the trackless snows of Little America.

Plans For Turkey Dinner Spoiled, 2 Boys Land In Court

Two Olivesburg youths who apparently had plans for indulging in a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner had their plans go awry and landed in municipal court today, charged with the theft of six turkeys.

They were Franklin Howman, 19, and Gene Stoffer, 18, both of R. D. 2, Greenwich, who were charged with petit larceny.

Both pleaded guilty before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and both were sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 which was suspended on condition of good behavior for the next three years.

The boys were arrested Saturday by Sheriff E. P. Long, who said the pair admitted stealing the turkeys from George C. Yentzer, a neighbor.

Long said the birds were taken from the flock which had been roosting out of doors.

Up in Franklin township the rural folks have their own "Good neighbor" policy, and it works too. Ill for the past two months, S. M. McBride, farmer who lives six miles north of Mansfield, was worrying about getting his seven acres of corn harvested. So 27 of his neighbors settled that by husking all of the corn and storing it in the McBride crib. They finished the Good Samaritan act by putting the fodder in the barn.

A farmer near Bellville who has been permitting hunters to roam his property is about ready to close the gates to them—because his dog is missing. "I don't like to think that any hunter is such a poor sportsman that he would take my dog after I granted permission to hunt on my farm, but it looks that way," the farm owner said. Unless the dog is back home in a short time, "No hunting" signs will go up—just as a precaution, he added.

MURDER PROBE IN NEW TURN

Investigators in Slaying of Sportsman O'Hare Discover Secret Apartment.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—Discovery of a secret apartment maintained by Edward J. O'Hare gave a new turn today to the investigation into the assassination of the widely known sportsman.

The flat was found and entered Sunday by coroner's investigators, and a collection of letters and other papers was gathered up to be studied for possible clues to the killers.

O'Hare, 47, was president of Sportsman's Park race track outside Chicago and had interests in dog tracks in Massachusetts and Florida. He was killed in gangster fashion last Wednesday by shotgun blasts fired from another car as he sped along a Chicago street in his expensive coupe.

According to police the newly found apartment, a suite of basement rooms in a $100,000 north side building owned by O'Hare, revealed nothing of value except possibly the letters and papers.

Meanwhile, investigation of the slaying continued into the several curious by-paths followed by police in the belief O'Hare's death was in some way related to gangster operations. In this vein, police sought particularly to learn whether there was any connection between O'Hare's one-time employment as manager of Al Capone sports enterprises, and his assassination.

FUNERAL TODAY

Rites Held Near Nankin for Susie V. Miller.

NANKIN — Funeral services were to be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lelah B. Gardner, of near here, for her sister, Miss Susie V. Miller, 69, who died at the Gardner home Saturday following a brief illness. Rev. R. D. Wingert of Nankin officiated.

Tuesday morning the body will be taken to West Union, O., where services are to be held in the afternoon, and burial will be made in Kirker cemetery at West Union. Miss Miller was born April 17, 1870 in Adams county, and had lived with her sister for the past five years.

DOUBLE THANKSGIVING DOESN'T HIKE COST OF DINNER TURKEY

Even though Mansfielders may celebrate Thanksgiving twice if they want to, they won't have to pay any more for the turkey—or turkeys—this year than they did last.

At least, retailers say it doesn't look that way right now. And most people, they think, will only celebrate one holiday and buy one turkey.

From wholesale and retail market reports available today it looks like the prize bird will sell at about 35 cents per pound dressed—the same as last Turkey Day.

Farmers, however, are holding onto their birds in the hope that prices will rise this week, local retailers reported.

Chicago market reports show that the nation as a whole may pay slightly less for turkeys, ducks and geese because they have been fattened on a bumper feed supply this year.

A record Turkey supply is available to meet America's longest Thanksgiving period—but beginning Nov. 23 in some states and ending Nov. 30 in others — but producers are marketing flocks sparingly. Out of a crop estimated by government census takers at close to 32,000,000 birds they are expected to send 11,800,000 to market during November as against almost 11,000,000 from a crop of about 26,000,000 last year. The previous record crop was 27,725,000 birds in 1936.

Thus, the first Thanksgiving two-timing Tom and Hen Turkey ever have received from their public is expected to call out only about 37 per cent of their population as against almost 41 per cent a year ago. This will leave more birds for the Christmas market.

CAR HITS POLE BESIDE ROAD AS TIRE BLOWS OUT

All Victims Are Cousins; Seven Die in Ohio on Armistice Day Week-End.

Four children, one a Mansfield boy, and all cousins, were injured seriously yesterday afternoon near Bellville when the car in which they were riding struck a telephone pole after a front tire blew out.

The accident was one of three in the Mansfield area over the Armistice day week-end, while in Ohio seven deaths were reported as the result of auto and railroad crossing accidents.

Three of the children are confined to General hospital while the fourth is at his home. In the hospital are Paul Harsh, 13, of Galion, who received a possible skull fracture, a fractured left collarbone and face injuries; Alton Sherman, 11, of Lexington, body lacerations, and Emmogene Sherman, 14, of Lexington, who suffered a fractured collarbone and face and hand lacerations.

Fourth At Home.

The fourth child, Fred Volz, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Volz, 47 Blanche street, was driver of the car, highway patrolmen reported. Volz received scalp lacerations and abrasions of the back and is confined to his home. Young Volz is a student at John Simpson junior high school.

Girl Escapes Injury.

A fifth passenger in the car, Elane Harsh, sister of Paul, was uninjured, according to highway patrolmen. The children had been visiting, with their parents, at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Callie Volz of Lexington, and had gone out for a ride when the accident occurred.

Highway patrolmen said a front tire blow-out caused young Volz to lose control of the car, and crash into the telephone pole.

Sherman Myers, 33, of West Salem, is in Samaritan hospital in Ashland with a broken back and numerous minor lacerations, suffered when his car crashed into an embankment on route 42, six miles north of Ashland Saturday afternoon. Sheriff L. D. Hammond of Ashland county, said Myers failed to make a curve.

In another accident at 3 a. m. Sunday on route 39, one mile north of Mansfield, cars driven by James Mayer, 274 Wood street, Mansfield, and Bert James, R. D. 3, Mansfield, collided, when James ran into Mayer's car as he was making a turn into a side road, according to highway patrolmen. Neither driver was injured.

FAIR ENOUGH!

It Seems That Not All The Tricks Are on the Side of the Tax Evaders

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES—When President Roosevelt, a few years ago, denounced the employment of clever little schemes, having the color of legality, by rich men loath to pay their taxes, ensuing discussion revealed that the treasury itself had nothing to learn from any individual or corporation of the arts and tricks of tax manipulation. On the contrary, it came out that for every squalid, if legal, cheat against the government the bureau of internal revenue had been guilty of an equal imposition on a citizen.

With this for my text I introduce an individual case which, as related to me, would seem to merit the notice of Elmer Irey, whose zeal against evaders is famous but who, as far as my knowledge goes, never has pounced on one of his own agents for bending the law out of shape to the detriment of a taxpayer.

My subject is Gene Fowler, who writes novels and movies in Hollywood and recently was called on to pay a large tax on a modest income earned by his son, Gene, jr., on the contention that, because the son was not then 21 years old, the income was not properly his but his old man's.

Gene, jr., duly reported his earnings and paid a tax of $26. He was above the age of 18, and, therefore, under the exemption clause was his own man, free to carry matches and his own latchkey, hang for murder and fight in the wars.

If he had not been employed and had been wholly dependent his father would not have been allowed the nominal deduction of $400.

The sons of taxpayers who are rising 18 are turned adrift from their parents under a theory which might be expressed as "root, hog, or die," although sons of those who do not pay taxes are deemed to require special assistance, being better people, no doubt.

Mr. Fowler was surprised and slightly wounded to learn that his son's income had been added to his own and that by this process the young man's earnings were taxable in a much higher bracket. Instead of $26 the youth was taxed $280, which in proportion to his actual salary was an exorbitant charge, but it was paid, nevertheless, on the theory that the treasury, like Adolf Hitler, has short patience with those who oppose its will and retaliates with new demands.

This clever little scheme undoubtedly has the color of legality, but morally it seems of a piece with those evil subtleties which the president so heartily denounced, little knowing, perhaps, that those who chisel the treasury may justify themselves with the thought that they are only stealing something back or just anticipating.

Mr. Fowler, I may say, is not at ease in the role of indignant taxpayer and is less indignant than disgusted, being by nature a man of sentiment and known to his neighbors as Booker, because for some time he delighted to parade before his home in Hollywood pushing in a baby carriage a colored child named Mavis. Mavis was to have been named in his honor, but when she was born the name of Gene seemed inappropriate to her sex. He did propose Eugenie, but Agnes Fowler and the mother agreed that this somehow was not apposite, so she was named for a soft drink widely advertised in Los Angeles.

Further to dispel the impression of Mr. Fowler as a complaining citizen, I might introduce the fact that his other son, Bill, who, fortunately, has no income as yet to burden his old man, is the only man who ever bit Sergeant Mike Donaldson, late of the 69th, or Fighting Irish, regiment of the New York national guard, and escaped serious injury.

Sergeant Donaldson, who holds the Congressional Medal of Honor among other rewards for astounding valor in France, once was a rough and tumble fighter, and in the days before the war fought many memorable brawls in and out of the ring.

Other men have bitten him, but not with impunity, and Bill Fowler escaped only because of his extreme youth. He was 6 months old at the time, and Sergeant Donaldson, spending a few days at the Fowler place at Forest Hills, was walking the floor with him to quiet him.

It was a very hot summer day, and the sergeant—never a lean man and now grown somewhat flabby—was attired only in his shorts when Bill, with a mistaken gleam in his young eyes, stretched out his neck and nipped the gallant soldier good.

This ought to end on a somber note, about taxes, but the subject seems to have slipped away.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—This is just a story about a pretty girl. If you aren't interested in pretty girls, per se, you may skip it and turn back to the war news.

Oh, so you're still around? Well maybe this girl whose name is verbal music, Nanette Fabares, can act, too. I thought she gave an interesting sample of her wares in this department in "Elizabeth and Essex." She was the girl who broke down and cried in sympathy for Liz, because she, too, was a woman in love, and she, too, was a-missin' her man who was away fighting Liz's battles.

Mike Curtiz, who directed the picture, got that scene by telling Nannette she was a terrible actress. Mike liked Nanette in the part, but things weren't going too well on the set that day. Nanette wasn't crying correctly, and she was forgetting her lines, and she was nervous.

"Nanette," pronounced Mike with finality, "you are a terrible actress!"

And Nanette broke down and cried and Mike, with a wink at Bette Davis, said all right they'd try it again, just rehearse it. And Nanette couldn't stop crying, and they "rehearsed" it, and when they finished, that was it, the scene. This Curtiz is a sly fella sometimes."

FABARES (pronounce it Fa-ba-raise) is an old Louisiana French name. Nanette's mother is of Irish descent. Nanette was born in New Orleans but she didn't grow up on gumbo, jambalaya and lusrious oysters on the half-shell. Her mother brought her to Hollywood when she was three, and she has visited New Orleans only once since very recently.

She is a pretty young thing, nice slim figure, long dark hair, intelligent and pretty dark eyes. She doesn't think she's a pretty young thing. She says Perc Westmore, the make-up man, has despaired of her. Says Perc kept telling her about her "bad camera angles" until she asked in desperation if she had any good angles. "No," said Perc.

Nanette was a baby dancing star on California stages, a "single" act, and later taught dancing to earn her way through school.

She had to give up dancing—tap, ballet, acrobatic, all kinds—a few years ago when its strenuous demands threatened to ruin her health. She never tried pictures, except for a brief sally in "Our Gang," of which she remembers little, until her work in a little theater won a screen test. The test was terrible, she says, and she kept on working in the little theater. She won a scholarship at Max Reinhardt's drama school, and a second chance at pictures. This time the test was better, and she played in "A Child Is Born"—she did her role two weeks after recovering from double pneumonia but it was a bed-ridden role—and then in "Elizabeth and Essex."

I'M NOT sure my contract will be extended," she says with a frankness not too startling in these uncertain days when many contracts are being forgotten. "I may go to New York for a Reinhardt production, anyway."

Her pet interest is astrology—"but not for telling the future. I don't like that"—and her pet aversion is being called "No, no, Nanette!" which she is called by everybody, including me, old enough to remember the musical comedy.

One of the boys, facetious-like, was telling her they must have a long talk some time, to discuss new facts of her personality, or maybe etchings.

"Fine," said Nanette quickly. "I'll bring mother."

Well, that's all. Just a story about a pretty girl who maybe can act, and now you may turn back to the war news.

French, British Withdraw Troops From North China

BOTH NATIONS SAY INTERESTS STILL INTACT

But Japs See Possibility of Allies Relinquishing Their Rights in Orient.

(By United Press)

TOKYO — France and Great Britain notified the foreign office today that a large number of their troops would be removed from North China.

Both, emphasized to the Japanese that the impending withdrawals involved no sacrifice of British or French rights and interests under the treaties with China.

The British decision was conveyed to Foreign Minister Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura by British Ambassador Sir Robert L. Craigie, who said that British troops would be withdrawn from Tientsin, Peiping and Shanhaikwan because they were needed in Europe.

(London dispatches said that about 800 British soldiers would be removed from North China, leaving a skeleton force of about 200.)

The French decision was conveyed to Masuyaki Tani, one of Nomura's chief aides, by French Ambassador Arsene Henry.

The British foreign office has notified the United States and all signatories of the nine power treaty, guaranteeing the independence and territorial integrity of China, of its decision. The Washington government would be kept informed of all moves, it was said in London dispatches.

Japanese believed that it was the first move toward the relinquishment of British interests in North China and some quarters believed that eventually British troops would be moved out of Shanghai.

The press was enthusiastic. Yomiuri said the British attitude reflected improved Anglo-Japanese relations and predicted further progress toward settling pending questions.

The news was announced simultaneously by the war office in London, and had been communicated in advance to the United States and other nations who have troops in North China in accordance with the Boxer treaty of 1900 permitting them to keep communication lines open and guard foreign property.

The British viewpoint was that the withdrawal signified a marked improvement in the far eastern situation in recent weeks, due in a large part to the Russian-German non-aggression alliance which virtually negated Japan's anti-comintern pact with Germany.

YOUTH HURT IN SCRUB FOOTBALL PILE-UP SUNDAY

Former Plymouth Basketball Star in Hospital With Internal Injuries.

WILLARD—Earl Cashman, 18, former Plymouth High school basketball star, was in Municipal hospital here today seriously hurt yesterday in a scrub football game near Plymouth.

Cashman, who graduated in June, suffered internal injuries, but his condition was reported to be improved today.

He was a member of a pick-up team of farm boys in the Plymouth-Shelby area who were playing another pickup team of Shelby youths in a farm field in Plymouth township yesterday afternoon.

Cashman, playing fullback, carried the ball and was hurt when he landed on the bottom of a pileup after being tackled.

It was at first feared that he had suffered broken ribs but it was later determined that he was bleeding internally, and he was brought to the hospital here. Physicians said the bleeding had stopped today.

Cashman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Cashman, whose farm is three miles south of Plymouth. Their son lives at home and works on the farm.

There's No Great Mystery
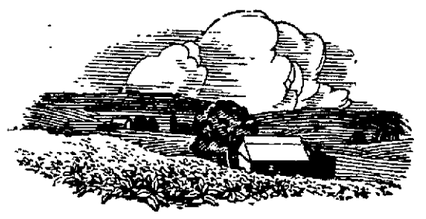
about Cigarette Tobaccos



THERE ARE FOUR TYPES
of tobaccos found in the more popular cigarettes, namely... Bright, Maryland, Burley and Turkish.

ALL THESE TOBACCOS except Turkish (which is bought direct from the planters in Turkey and Greece) and Maryland (which is bought through sealed bids under government supervision) are bought at public auction, just like any other auction where you might have bought in a table or a chair.

AT THE AUCTION SALE the tobacco is piled in baskets weighing from about 100 to 500 pounds and each purchaser buys all of his tobaccos by competitive bidding for the particular piles he wants.

THE CHESTERFIELD BUYERS buy the best of these mild ripe tobaccos for the Chesterfield blend. And it is Chesterfield's Combination... the right amounts of Burley and Bright... just enough Maryland... and just enough Turkish—that makes the big difference between Chesterfield and other cigarettes.

IT IS BECAUSE of this combination that Chesterfields are COOLER, have a BETTER TASTE and are DEFINITELY MILDER. They are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos. You can't buy a better cigarette.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1939.

Ohio highways, over a holiday week-end, make the western front seem comparatively safe.

It remained for a reader to quip: "Well, I see the pension amendment started big and ended low."

More young men would be attracted by marriage if they could feel sure they would be supported in the way to which they have become accustomed.

Consider Mansfield's Traffic Code

DURING the recent municipal campaign Mayor-elect William J. Locke made a number of references to Mansfield traffic conditions and expressed intention, if elected, to make a serious effort toward improving these conditions.

Comparison of records during periods of enforcement and non-enforcement of traffic regulations, such as have been common to Mansfield, reveals a close relationship between accidents and reckless driving.

It has also been demonstrated that the Mansfield police department, with present motorized equipment, can do a much better job of enforcement than was done during the couple of months preceding election.

If there is to be a really serious attempt to solve Mansfield's traffic problems, and to encourage habits of safer driving on city streets, it would seem advisable to start by revamping the present outmoded traffic code, with a view to adopting regulations suitable to conditions brought about by the greater number of motor vehicles now using city streets.

Other cities, large and small, have been making much better records in traffic safety than has Mansfield. If there is to be a move toward betterment along this line it would seem entirely proper to start immediately compiling information and formulating plans which can thus be in readiness for action by the first of the year.

Productive Work Is First Essential

BEFORE public interest in the Bigelow pension plan has entirely subsided, and while considerable attention is being attracted by introduction of the "slow-down" technique in connection with Detroit's disturbed situation in the motor industry, it might be well for more people to gain better understanding of the limits of possibilities in the payment of both wages and pensions.

Apparently an idea still persists, in the minds of millions of people, that money is wealth and that wealth can be created in some other way than by productive work.

A recent statement by Walter B. Pitkin, journalist and researcher, touches on this subject. "We have spent too much time trying to distribute wealth when we don't have it," he declared. "Let's create wealth first and worry about distribution later. The traitor to America is the man who refuses to create new wealth."

It is probably not so much "refusal," as misunderstanding, that has hampered more rapid production of wealth in this country, for "wealth" is nothing more than accumulation of a surplus after satisfying immediate needs. This surplus, public and private, tends to filter away and disappear if not renewed.

This is one of the reasons why it is advisable to keep middle-aged people at work, producing wealth, and why it is important not to adopt lavish, utopian pension schemes for elderly people who are not in need. The tendency in recent years is, generally speaking, to continue the burden of wealth-production to a period of only 25 or 30 years, say from the age of 20 or 25 to 45 or 50, covering less than half a lifetime.

The nature of wealth and the functions of money should be far more generally understood. Simple economics should be taught in every high school, or even in the grade schools.

War Endangers Leaders Also

HOWEVER repulsive the attempted assassination of Hitler may be, when considered from a moral and esthetic viewpoint, it appears that Nazi Germany is adopting a peculiar attitude toward the incident, after its ruthless disregard of the value of human lives in accomplishing the dismemberment of Czecho Slovakia and the seizure of Poland. Nor has the sinking of ships by German submarines shown the finer traits of so-called civilization.

For some reason, not entirely clear, Nazi leaders seem to regard the life of Hitler as of more importance than the lives of the German boys he has been sending into war, or the lives of the Polish men, women and children who were killed during the invasion of that country.

This is odd, for, aside from the accident of his present position of power, Adolf Hitler is a mere man, whose life is actually no more precious than that of his most humble subject.

A condition of war exists in Europe and war has little regard for ethics, as has been demonstrated by the Nazi forces on a number of occasions. Hitler is not only the head of the German government but the head of the German military forces, and, during a state of war, his life is no safer than it can be made by the guards who surround him.

The placing of a bomb intended to kill Hitler was at least as sportsmanlike as dropping bombs on Polish cities and towns. Human life has little value as measured by the instigators of war.

Marlene's Big Thrill

ONE of the proud and pleased "first-voters" last week was the movie actress, Marlene Dietrich, who received her final citizenship papers last July. Miss Dietrich is frankly enthusiastic about her new status. She came from her native land, Germany, as an adult, and after many trips back and forth decided that she wished to change her citizenship. Voting was "one of the biggest events" in her life, she said.

Americans hear of Miss Dietrich's new citizenship and her first vote only because she is a popular star of the Hollywood screen. There are always many naturalized first-voters about whom we do not hear because their places in American life are less conspicuous. Yet they, too, have become Americans from choice, after discovering what it is like, what its democracy is, what freedom and opportunity are found here.

Native-born citizens who consider the reasons for this group's thrill at becoming Americans and voting may find their own appreciation of their country strengthened.

This year's U. S. crop of soybeans is estimated at eighty million bushels, or slightly less than a bushel for each man, woman and child—but the distribution must have been faulty.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Big Red always lived such a sane life and took such good care of himself that it was a shock to hear that he was dead. Red was a man of no consequence around town, but he was well known and well liked. He used to turn up at the scene of fires, or accidents, or murders, and invite the newspapermen down to the restaurant which he owned with his brother and give them a free helping of hash. He used to tell them they were foolish for staying up at all hours of the night, eating irregularly, and smoking so many cigarettes.

"Look at me," he'd say. "I haven't smoked in 15 years. I walk five miles every morning. I live clean. I get eight hours' sleep every night."

But Red would say this in a way that you liked—didn't resent. They called him Big Red, but that was a misnomer, because he was only five-six. He was strong, though, and clear-eyed, because he lived right. But he is dead now, out-lived and mourned by his careless, irresponsible newspaper friends, who sit in smoky restaurants all night, eating improperly, keeping awake by drinking strong coffee, and living the life that robs you of pep and makes you an old man before your timee.

RED'S case makes me think of a little two-bit lawyer I used to know in a small town out in Nebraska, who never would wear a coat in winter. He used to stand out on the corner in freezing weather, in his shirt sleeves, showing off, and professing to be perfectly comfortable.

"It's merely a matter of conditioning yourself," he's say. "If you're healthy, you don't have to wrap yourself up like an old woman. What you need is blood—plenty of rich red blood."

In time he became quite a character, and he was known also for the fact that he never hesitated to neglect his practice to sneak off and play chess. Chess and fresh air, they were his gods.

But for all his zest for healthful living, he went out one day and shot himself. He must have got just one whiff too much of that fresh Nebraska air.

ROARK BROADFORD has left his banana trees and his Cape jassamine in his old French courtyard in Toulouse street, New Orleans, to spend a long, busy, interested interval on Broadway—readying his musical drama, "John Henry," which Sam Byrd is going to produce.

Roark came in for the final casting, and he will remain throughout rehearsals. Outside of autumnal visits to New York, you seldom see around the man who wrote "The Green Pastures." He likes his plantation, made famous in his Saturday Evening Post stories, and his "Frenchtown" home.

It was the first time I'd seen Roark since I sat with him by a gurgling fountain in that old courtyard of his, watching his kid whoop 'em up with a new cowboy suit. Roark was planning the premiere of "John Henry" then—the story of a negro of giant strength who runs into competition with the machine-age, and is destroyed.

How Would You Like to Occupy This Space?

Ever since we first gave the readers of this column the opportunity to be a COLUMNIST FOR A DAY thousands of letters have come in asking for a repeat. Here's that chance you have been waiting for . . . the chance to make your views and ideas known all over America. What's your idea on marriage, ambition, career? What's wrong and what's right with the younger generation, the older generation—with anything? Sit down and write right now to Elsie Robinson, 235 East 45th street, New York City.

* * * * *

DO YOU remember these lines from Kipling's "IF"?

"IF YOU CAN KEEP YOUR HEAD WHEN ALL ABOUT YOU ARE LOSING THEIR'S, AND BLAMING IT ON YOU—"

If you have ever tried to do something which you knew to be right, but which was also difficult and unpopular . . . you will know how much courage it takes to live them.

* * *

It is not the danger or hardship of the acts itself that keeps most of us from embarking on new and noble adventures . . . IT'S THE FEAR OF BEING MISUNDERSTOOD . . . LAUGHED AT . . . CRITICIZED . . . SNUBBED.

Human beings are gregarious animals. We like to live with the herd, think with the herd, be in right with the herd.

We can stand starvation and disease easier than we can stand unpopularity or ostracism. And ostracism is not merely a sentimental handicap. It is a very real danger. Unpopularity can wreck our business and our reputation.

The old saying, "sticks and stones may break my bones, but words will never hurt me," IS NOT TRUE. Words CAN hurt us terribly. They can do irreparable harm.

And nothing will arouse the vicious criticism of the herd as surely as DOING SOMETHING DIFFERENT. The thing you are about to do may be a brave and honorable act . . . may be the only thing you CAN DO to keep your self-respect . . . but these arguments don't count with the herd.

IF IT'S DIFFERENT, IT'S DAMNED.

It's damned because the herd is afraid of things that are different. Things that are different are apt to be dangerous to the herd. They make things difficult for lazy people and cowardly people. They upset the existing order.

It has taken a long time to establish that existing order . . . to get things sitting pretty. . . . Naturally, the herd resents any interference with its comfort. You can commit no greater crime than to set up new and disturbing standards of conduct . . . to be different.

Christ was crucified, and Socrates given the hemlock, not because they advocated new radical philosophies. The public knew nothing of their philosophies and cared less. But they did know that they were different . . . and different people got their collective goat. So they did away with Christ and Socrates . . . and thereby hoped to make the world safe for SMUGOCRACY.

All of which you will realize very keenly if you are trying to do something different in your own life . . . something that seems necessary and righteous to you. But nevertheless violates the traditional law.

* * *

AND you must face that fact very frankly when you're laying out your course. YOU CAN'T EXPECT TO HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TOO. If you can't stand criticism, if you can't exist without the approval of your contemporaries, then DON'T START ANYTHING. For you're surely going to suffer plenty of punishment if you do.

But, on the other hand, if you have the stamina to stand the gaff of being a maverick, IT'S WORTH IT.

You may be lonely, but you will be FREE.

You may miss the comforts of companionship and the plaudits of popularity . . . BUT YOU WILL FEEL A PRIDE AND FIRE AND FURY OF ADVENTURE WHICH THE CORRALED CAN NEVER KNOW.

And your youth will be renewed and your spirit will be exulted, and life will open out and out into splendid possibilities.

And sometimes . . . not often, but once in a great while . . . you will glimpse God and feel that you, too, are fighting for the TRUTH.

Timely Editorial

No Need for Surprise.

Temptations that beset youth came in for a severe drubbing at the annual Parent Education Institute in Ann Arbor. Incidentally the fact appeared that neglect of duty on the part of parents is largely to blame for the existence of these temptations.

Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of the Central State Teachers' College, charged that increasing juvenile delinquency is caused by places of evil influence which in most cases are licensed by the community. "We need not be surprised," he said, "if there is an increase in delinquency when we know that such hazards exist for the sole purpose of producing delinquency. We license them, but show surprise when their products go to court."

Local regulations hardly ever run counter to the wishes of the best citizens when public opinion is aroused to the point of action. If the charges made in such connections are true, the next move should be for those who are convinced of the need of it to start a clean-up in their own communities.—Detroit News.

—By DR. CLENDENING

"In reading your discussion of the inoculations to produce immunity in school children, the question occurs to me whether it would not be possible to give all the immunizations at one dose."

Not only possible, but very advantageous. The report of a public health officer says that he gave, in 1930, in a group of rural counties, 60,000 doses of vaccine. Experience proved that a person could be immunized against diphtheria, typhoid fever and smallpox at the same time without any more reaction than one gets from vaccines given for only one disease.

Many schools have been inoculated 100 per cent with three simultaneous vaccinations. Many pupils were tested two years later with the Schick test for diptheria and found to be immune.

The advantages are that parents wil bring children for three inoculations and then fail to show up for any others. Children develop a fixed dislike to being inoculated after three doses. Who blames them?

During five years of experience, according to this report, there were no fatalities, and no one was made seriously ill.

Has there ever been any study made of the action of sauerkraut juice, or is what we hear about it based just on opinion and guess work?

Dr. Gehlen, of Erlangen, made a careful laboratory study of sauerkraut juice and found it to have quite complicated pharmacologic properties.

Sauerkraut as a laxative depends mostly on its bulk. It is one of the best cathartics because it contains so much roughage. But the juice itself is also laxative, probably largely on account of its lactic acid content.

Taking sauerkraut juice as a fresh product, it contains yeast and lactic acid bacilli. When pasteurized and filtered, it is clear with five per cent solid content and one and one-half per cent ash.

Ten to 20 cc of this regularly produced catharsis in cats and humans. Strips of intestinal muscle responded with rhythmic peristaltic action to application of neutralized juice. It can be proved pharmacologically that it has an action on the automatic nervous system.

Sauerkraut juice is a good source of vitamin C and vitamin B.

It also has an effect on the heart, producing slowing and increased output.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

For Companionship.

She called each household thing by name.
Each chair, each table was
As dear to her as if it lived.
Folks said it was because

She lived alone she prized them so
In thought and even word.
For she would speak to them as if
Each phrase of hers they heard.

Somehow, I never could believe
Her "touched," as neighbors said.
But into this strange joy of hers
A gentler meaning read.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Not all of the facts have leaked out yet regarding the admirals' bungling of the brand new U. S. destroyers built as part of the Roosevelt big navy program.

It is generally known that the destroyers are top-heavy, but two other facts are not so well understood. One is that on at least three destroyers, the deck plates have buckled badly in what is technically known as a "moderately rolling sea." For this reason it has been necessary to increase the weight of the decks and thus make the destroyers even more top-heavy.

Second is a metallurgical defect in the rivets. The navy still insists upon using rivets in its vessels, refusing to concede the technical advantages of welding construction. And because of the defective rivets, literally millions of them will have to be replaced.

Of the 28 new destroyers now completed or under construction, 20 are top-heavy. The other eight are not far along in their construction and their design can be changed.

Reason for these construction boners lies in the antiquated system of bureaus within the navy department and the jealousy of certain admirals who can't get over the fact that they graduated at the head of their class at Annapolis years ago.

Inside Reason.

WHAT happened was that additional weight, such as extra armor plate, was put on the destroyers at high points, which brought their center of gravity too far above the water. The bureau of engineering and ordnance are supposed to certify these weights, while the bureau of construction and repair makes the stability calculations, which are very intricate.

In the case of the new destroyers, the three of the private naval yards which were building the vessels feared that the center of gravity was too high and pointed this out to the admirals. The private builders even offered to submit the center of gravity test to Gibbs and Cox, who are private design agents.

The admirals, however, declined the offer. They decided that they could do no wrong.

Naval Housecleaning.

RESULT has been (1) that lead ballast has to be affixed to the keels to keep the vessels from rolling over in the water; and (2) Acting Secretary Edison has given the admirals a thorough shake-up.

Admiral William G. DuBose, chief of naval construction, had claimed that the trouble was an engineering defect, not a construction defect. But Admiral Harold G. Bowen, chief of naval engineering, hotly replied that DuBose was at fault.

So Secretary Edison has shifted Admiral DuBose to the naval experimental basin in western Maryland, where he can play with miniature models of battleships. And he has shifted Admiral Bowen to the naval research laboratory in southern Maryland, where he can do more experimenting with ships.

Some consider it significant that Edison has shifted the two to opposite parts of Maryland.

Note—Reason for the undercover campaign against Acting Secretary Edison on the part of some naval officers is the fact that he has finally determined that he, and not the admirals, is going to rule the roost.

Birthday Fund.

EDDIE CANTOR had a talk with the president when he was in Washington recently, at which time Roosevelt disclosed important plans for changing his birthday fund.

The president said that he wanted to broaden the aid to include all crippled children, not merely those who had suffered from paralysis. He also expressed the hope that the work would continue after he left the White House, and that it was too important to be linked to one person or personality.

Note—Eddie Cantor originated the slogan "March of Dimes" for the early stages of the President's Birthday Fund, and Roosevelt has always considered Cantor a sort of partner in the campaign.

White House Diplomat.

INSIDE the White House, plans have been discussed for the appointment of a diplomatic secretary to the president. The tentative plan is to attach a state department official to the White House staff to sift foreign problems, arrange the visits of diplomats.

Real fact is that the president more and more is his own secretary of state. Many diplomats now ask to see the president direct, rather than Cordell Hull. To do this, they now have to go through the state department, where there are delays and sometimes irritation.

Suggested as the new diplomatic attache is Hugh Wilson, former Ambassador to Germany, who has been cooling his heels in the state department rather unhappily ever since he was recalled from Berlin.

Two Thanksgivings.

THE scrap over Thanksgiving may be amusing to the public, but to government officials it is serious business.

The other day a Farm Security official called the office of Senator LaFollette to ask what Wisconsin had done about the Thanksgiving date. Answer was that they were holding fast to tradition, and would celebrate on November 30.

This made trouble for Farm Security, which operates the resettlement community of Greendale, near Milwaukee. The staff at Greendale are federal employes, who will celebrate Thanksgiving on the newly designated date of November 23. Yet the town itself is incorporated in the state of Wisconsin, which celebrates on the later date.

There is a lot of joking about eating two turkeys, but when it comes to deciding whether employes may have two holidays, that's another matter.

Turkey Talk

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR TURKEYS are nearly full grown. Some of the young gobblers have outstripped their mother in size, and pay little attention, any more, to her leaderhip. They wander away alone on foraging trips into the neighbors' fields. Their sleek bronze bodies gleam with glints of red, blue, green and orange. Their long necks stretch high above the dead yellow pasture grass. From time to time, their boastful "Prrt!" and white-edged fan of spreading feathers reminds us that Thankskiving day will soon be here.

They are tame. The other day they came to the back door begging for a drink. They gathered around the pump and watched with an undercurrent of understanding gossip, while I pumped a brimming pailful. I set the pail down and watched them drink, dipping their black bills into the cool liquid and tipping back their heads to let the water run down. Their heads and necks were very red, their beady eyes very bright.

I fetched some corn and threw it out for them. They had begun to eat when two white pullets sighted the corn, and came running. Immediately the turkeys walked away. The whole flock disappeared around the house. I knew they were hungry, yet not one of the big bronze birds would stand his ground or show that he was a barnyard king. Instead they fled like timid weaklings from hens hardly half their size.

I remembered the day in late summer when the little poults had been brought to the coop in our pasture. The young chickens were then half grown, and ranged the northern end of that same field. We put out growing mash for the newcomers, and the saucy chicks invaded the turkeys' domain and chased them away from the feeders with vicious pecks.

"Perhaps that was the beginning of an inferiority complex," I mused. My young daughter had another explanation.

"Your hens are rude, ill-mannered birds," she said. "My turkeys are gentle folk. They're too sportsmanlike to pick on anybody littler than they are."

"At least it illustrates the principle of education," I remarked. "As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined. Lion tamers use that principle, as do priests, preachers and professors. The way we allow our turkeys—or our children—to be trained will either make or mar our future Thanksgiving."
